

Rush Creek Linear Park

Maple Grove, Minnesota

Project Description

Some areas in a community deserve special consideration in preserving open space. The Rush Creek Corridor in Maple Grove contained a variety of spectacular natural features that the City wanted to incorporate into a linear park.

A study was completed to identify the most critical areas, establish an appropriate trail routing, and document the steps necessary to ensure preservation of this important environmental resource.

